1. Prospect House School is committed to equal opportunities and aims to be a school that
 - promotes mutual respect and tolerance so that a positive attitude towards self and others is encouraged and maintained
 - develops the children's awareness of the diversity of the society in which they live
 - creates opportunities for all children to develop individual aptitudes, abilities and potential.

2. This is based on the ethos that no one should receive less favourable treatment on the grounds of race, gender, disability, sexuality, age, religion, colour, ethnic origin, marital status or nationality.
3. This includes:
 - Girls, boys, women, men and transgender individuals
 - People from different ethnic backgrounds
 - People from different faith backgrounds
 - Pupils who need support to learn English as an additional language (EAL)

5. At Prospect House School, teachers and staff are committed to providing a friendly, caring and stimulating environment for children regardless of their status, gender, religion, ethnic origin, age or abilities. The governors - Dukes Education - believe that every pupil has the right to achieve his or her potential, to be held in equal esteem and to have his or her individual needs met in the light of his or her abilities, talents and experiences. The governors believe that all people, children and adults, are of equal importance and are entitled to equal dignity and respect.
 6. All members of staff must recognise and accept the unique role and responsibilities their school has in fostering positive attitudes and values in its children. Every child should have equal access to the curriculum. Such access can be provided only by methods and practices which take into account children's different needs and not necessarily by treating everyone in the same way.
 7. Each school promotes the principles of fairness and equality for all. It aims to achieve this through educational opportunities provided in school. These opportunities reflect the facts, among other things, that
 - The curriculum allows all pupils to participate in a wide range of activities, building on previous experience and extending learning
 - The school provides a balanced and positive range of images for all groups regardless of gender, religion, ethnic origin, age or ability
 - Appropriate and varied teaching styles are used to maximise expectations and achievements of all individuals
 - There are opportunities for pupils to work with other children in a variety of groups within their class and across the school
 - The timetable ensures that all children have equal access to the full range of educational opportunities provided by the school
 - There is a wide range of sporting activities offered to all pupils, some of mixed gender and others of single sex
 - The school provides positive educational experiences and support for each child's individual point of view, with the aim of promoting positive social attitudes and respect for all
